Helpful Hints for the Smart Consumer

1. Plan Ahead
2. Try to schedule your move before or after the first of the month. Sunday through Thursday to avoid the rush.
3. Secure all valuables and important papers on your person.
4. Packing is one of the most important parts of any moving job. You or your packer should start packing as soon as possible. You or your packer should only use professional supplies. Pack fragile items individually. Never over pack boxes. Don't forget to label boxes.
5. Select and secure final destination whether it be residence or storage in advance.
6. Don't forget to call utilities and phone company, etc. . . . to disconnect.
7. Dispose of Hazardous Materials.
8. Have a garage sale or donate unneeded items.

Things you should know about do it yourself moving jobs.

Before renting a big truck, think about the responsibility that comes along with operating a vehicle 10,000 lbs. or more, unless you have experience with driving big trucks. A few other things to consider are: Truck rental, mileage, furniture dolly, furniture pads, bungee cords, your time, and someone else's to help you load and unload the truck. These are just a few of the particulars which are things you pay for separately and above truck rental. Consider your options and make the smart choice.
